Sales pitch

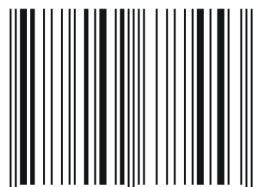

- A book about History for the general public that selects the one hundred more relevant questions about History, explained with accuracy, pleasantness, acuity and wisdom.

- With this book the reader will be able to understand the most fundamental issues when learning about and understanding the history of humanity. The author has integrated the latest investigations such as the project Genoma Neanderthal, which has proved that sapiens and neanderthals met (a topic which only a few other books about specific history have discussed), as well as the latest trends in modern historiography.

- Just as the rest of the books in the CPE collection, this literary work has an original, clear and very didactic structure. This is because it sets out all the information about a specific topic in a question-answer format with a total of 100 questions. This way, the reader will be able to read the aspects about the topic that he finds more interesting.

- Luis Íñigo is a very well-known and distinguished author among all his readers. He has a B.A and a PhD in History and is the author of numerous articles and history themed books. His specialty is writing about history for the general public as he has the ability to present and explain the most complex history processes in a way that is easy to understand. He has already shown this ability in other Breve Historia books such as Breve Historia de España, I y II, Breve Historia de la II República española, Breve Historia de la Revolución Industrial o Breve Historia de la batalla de Trafalgar.
